Larry, we miss you

You were a lifelong child and a most caring father at the same time. You believed in your people and helped them whenever they needed it. You had this infectious and tireless enthusiasm. You were the one who joyfully lived the "work hard, play hard" spirit. You had the unparalleled ability to make people believe in themselves. You, at the same time, were tireless in lobbying for them. You had no enemies, everybody liked you.

You were the champion in the world of metal clusters, and you leave behind a cluster of disciples who will never forget you.

You were unique, and you will live on in our hearts.

Prof. Dr. Heinrich Vahrenkamp